FLOOD RELIEF BILL VOTED BY PROBERS

Washington, February 16.—(United News.)—A comprehensive Mississippi flood control bill calling for appropriations of $473,000,000 was reported favorably by the house flood control committee today by a vote of 11 to 8. Federal payment of all flood control costs is provided in the bill, which the committee agreed on yesterday. However, tributaries of the Mississippi, which were included in the original draft, were stricken out today. The committee expects to introduce an amendment to the floor covering these streams.

Provides Flood Commission.

The measure provides for administration of flood control projects by a proposed Mississippi valley flood control commission under direct control of the president. The present Mississippi river commission would be abolished.

A comprehensive survey of the entire flood area is called for in the bill as the basis for additional control works other than those required to meet emergency needs. Flood control works would be created from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to the Gulf of Mexico.

The committee's bill is expected to meet strong opposition from administration forces, who contend that states should pay a share of flood control costs.

DOCTOR'S PAST LIFE
BARED TO JURORS

Los Angeles, February 16.—(P.)—Witnesses for the state today tore the veil from the past life of the quiet-mannered Dr. Charles M. McMillan, accused of the "sack murder" of Amelia Appleby, and pictured him as the tormentor of the wealthy widow whose body was found on a deserted roadway near here December 16.

Mrs. Grace Spies, Chicago apartment house owner, testified the physician tried to choke Mrs. Appleby in an apartment they had taken in her home last summer. On that occasion the screams of Mrs. Appleby attracted Mrs. Spies to the apartment, said the witness, who demonstrated from the stand a muffled cry which she said was similar to that uttered by Mrs. Appleby. Mrs. Spies testified she found Mrs. Appleby sprawled over a bed with Dr. McMillan standing menacingly over her.

Surprise Witness Testifies.

A surprise witness introduced by the commonwealth, Mrs. C. G. Whittier, testified Dr. McMillan could drive an automobile, thus attacking the defense claim that he was a doctor who could not drive and therefore could not have taken the sack-tied body of the victim to the lonely spot where it was found.

Mrs. Whittier, a neighbor of Mrs. Appleby in Los Angeles, said she had seen Mrs. Appleby alive seated in a car with the doctor in front of the Appleby residence December 22. Testimony that the doctor and the woman had registered at an Arizona hotel as Mr. and Mrs. McMillan and occupied adjoining rooms was given by Mrs. M. A. King, who said she and her husband met Dr. McMillan in Flagstaff, Ariz., where Mrs. Appleby is alleged to have signed the hotel register as Mrs. McMillan.

On cross examination Mrs. Spies admitted that Dr. McMillan had fleeced her out of $30 on a real estate deal. She also admitted under the barrage of questions from the defense that she had come to Los Angeles to testify for the state after repeated attempts to have McMillan reimburse her.

The physician, whom the state charges with plotting the murder in order to gain the wealth of Mrs. Appleby through a forced will, sat unmoved throughout the session, listening attentively to the testimony. Dr. McMillan was her business manager.

GOOD-WILL GROWS
AS IGNORANCE DIES,
SENATOR ASSERTS

Richmond, Va., February 16.—(P.)—There is more good will on earth today than at any period of its history, but intolerance and hard feeling still remain, due principally to ignorance of the other party's viewpoint, United States Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana, said here tonight in addressing a "good will banquet" of Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

"Good will meetings such as this will help to sweep away the mist, to broaden our outlook on life; to make us more charitable; to realize that our neighbors are just as worthy people as ourselves, and to understand that there is no genuine religion in hating those whose religious views differ from our own," Senator Ransdell said.

Senator Ransdell was the speaker for the 150 Catholics attending the banquet with a like number of Jews and Protestants, business men of Richmond and Virginia.

SMITH CANDIDATES TO FILE
IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Charleston, W. Va., February 16.—(P.)—C. W. Oseinton, democratic national committeeman for West Virginia, announced today that he expected about 20 candidates, favoring Governor Al Smith for president, would file in this state as delegates to the national convention.

After a conference with Oseinton today, Angus MacDonald, brother-in-law of John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee in 1924, filed as a delegate favoring Smith. Others who have already endorsed the New York governor include Gray Silver, of Martinsburg, and Dr. R. N. Price, and Miss Merle McClintic of Martinsburg.

Oseinton said he found the Smith sentiment growing throughout West Virginia.

TENNESSEAN PLEADS FOR HARMONY.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 16.—(P.)—A plea for the democratic party to face the issues which challenge it and not "again fall a victim to its own folly and blither about non-essentials" was made tonight by Finis Garrett, of Tennessee, minority leader in the house of representatives, in an address before the Indiana Democratic Editorial association.

In 1924, he said, the party broke ranks before its enemies, and fought with passionate abandon over imaginary goblins and academic abstractions.

CERMAK WITHDRAWS FROM ILLINOIS RACE.

Chicago, February 16.—(P.)—Paving the way for a "democratic harmony campaign" in Illinois, Anton J. Cermak, president here this afternoon for governor and announced his intention of becoming a candidate for United States senator.

The decision of the Chicago democratic leader was hailed as an omen of victory by his party followers, making Cermak a running mate for Justice Floyd E. Thompson, candidate for governor, instead of splitting the party.

Echoes of World War Are Heard at Fort McPherson As Two Veterans of Epic Struggle Are Paid Honors

Two world war heroes Thursday were decorated for gallantry in action in France during the summer of 1918 by Colonel G. F. Baltzell, commanding officer of the Twenty-second infantry. Left to right, those pictured are Colonel Baltzell, Sergeant Aaron Callicott and Sergeant Leon D. Hall, the two men decorated.

Echoes of war sounded across the placid, peace-time parade ground of Fort McPherson Thursday afternoon as decorations were pinned, almost ten years after they had been won, on the breasts of two heroes of the world war.

The heroes were Sergeants Leon D. Hall and Aaron B. Callicott, both from Arkansas, and for gallantry in action they received silver stars to be worn on the ribbons of victory medals. The citations had gone long before. Callicott was cited July 2, 1921, and Hall April 7, 1923, but the decorations were not to be decorated are present.

Just before retreat Thursday companies F, G, H and Headquarters lined one side of the parade ground.

Retreat sounded, a cannon boomed the customary salute and a moment later the two men to be decorated started across the parade ground, four steps behind them the standard and four steps ahead Major John H. Hester, commanding the battalion.

Straight across the ground to Colonel G. F. Baltzell, commanding officer of the twenty-second infantry, the soldiers marched.

"Sir," reported Major Hester, "the men to be decorated are present."

Captain D. E. Barnett, regimental adjutant, then stepped forward. He unfolded the two citations, on separate sheets, and read to him.

He read: "Leon D. Hall, sergeant, company M, twenty-eighth infantry, in action near Soissons, France, July 18, 1918. Although wounded and for a time rendered unconscious by enemy fire, upon regaining consciousness he refused medical aid and led his men forward in the face of heavy enemy machine gun and artillery fire, a distance of 1,000 yards. The fortitude and superb devotion to duty displayed by Sergeant Hall greatly inspired the members of his company."

Captain Barnett continued: "Aaron B. Callicott, then corporal, company M, twenty-eighth infantry, first division, for gallantry in action near Cantigny, France, May 30, 1918, while maintaining an outpost in advance of the lines of defense during an enemy bombardment."

Captain Barnett stepped back, Colonel Baltzell, accompanied by Lieutenant Colonel W. O. Boswell, Major Hester, Captain D. W. C. Smith and Captain Barnett stepped forward.

On the breast of Callicott, then of Hall, Colonel Baltzell pinned the star decorated ribbons, shaking the hand of each man and congratulating him.

In platoons the four companies passed in review and a few moments later the parade ground was deserted.

his body showed two bullet wounds, an autopsy completed tonight, revealed.

A diamond ring still was on McClure's hand and a diamond stickpin in his tie. His watch also was in his pocket.

The place where the men were found was within 200 yards of the house on the Abdlil farm, from which several children go daily to school.

SUSPECTS EXONERATED
BY FINGER PRINTS.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, February 16.—(P.)—Emil Granssee and Frank Tornes, 17-year-old Youngstown youths who were held here two days on suspicion of being fugitives sought for the disappearance of Indian deputy sheriffs, were exonerated on the count today. Their finger prints failed to tally with those of the fugitives.

They left here tonight for Youngstown, in custody of three deputy sheriffs, to answer charges of automobile stealing and robbery.

Berlin Parley Fails.

Berlin, February 16.—(P.)—Conferences between the ministers and the coalition party leaders throughout the day failed to bring a solution to the question of whether the Reichstag is to be dissolved immediately or at the end of March.

Prisoners Still at Liberty.

The prisoners, John Burns and Samuel Baxter, have not been found. The bodies of Grove and McClure, fully clothed, and encased with mud, lay on their backs, side by side, within 100 feet of a gravel highway connecting Foster and West Lebanon.

McClure's skull had been crushed and five bullets had been shot into his body. Grove's neck was broken and

NORRIS SEEKS QUIZ OF 'POWER LOBBY'

Washington, February 16.—(AP)—As the federal trade commission prepared today to carry out the senate's mandate to investigate public utilities, a quiet movement for an investigation of the power lobby in the national capital was put under way in the legislative body.

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, republican insurgent, sponsored this movement, which gained the instant support of a number of senators on both sides of the chamber. They regarded the importance of this inquiry as second only to one of the utilities themselves and said speedy action was imperative.

Bitterness Still Exists.
There still was apparent in the senate bitterness which characterized the fight which resulted last night in a senate vote of 46 to 31 to have the trade commission and not the senate inquire into the financing of electric light and power and gas companies.

In announcing that the senate resolution would be laid before the commission, Chairman Humphrey, who was attacked repeatedly during senate debate on the Walsh resolution said the investigation would go forward soon.

Open Inquiry Is Favored.
The commission itself must decide whether it will heed the senate's admonition to conduct the investigation at public hearings, but it was indicated that three of the five members would vote for an open inquiry with full notice of the time and the place of hearings.

In the cloak room discussions today of the proposed inquiry into the power lobby, there were suggestions that the members of the special committee include Wheeler, of Montana, who conducted the Daugherty investigation four years ago and Johnson, of California, widely known as a prosecuting attorney.

INTERNATIONALIST OPPOSES INCREASE IN NAVAL FORCES

Washington, February 16.—(AP)—The question whether the administration's plan for the construction of 21 new warships constitutes a new building or a replacement program bobbed up continuously today before the house naval committee hearing testimony from many witnesses opposed to expansion of the navy.

Linley V. Gordon, extension secretary of the World Alliance for Peace and International Support, asserted especially that he had come to Washington to oppose an increase in the naval establishment and that it was not until after he arrived that he had heard the program referred to as one for the replacement of old vessels.

He took the position that if the new ships were simply to replace old ones, then the program appeared in a different light.

TWO NEW BIBLES GIVEN TO SOLONS FOR HOUSE DESKS

New York, February 16.—(United News)—Congress is going to have two new Bibles.

Recently passed stories about new Senator Overman were forced to search the senate office building for a Bible to administer an oath to a witness appearing before an investigating committee.

The American Bible society announced today it had sent the story and has presented two leather-bound Bibles to congress—one for the house and one for the senate.

Dr. Copeland Says:

"Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many cathartic compounds. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. In their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes they are far less irritating. Indeed, many have qualities that make them soothing and healing. Sugar-coated pills are pleasant to take, which may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic because they appeal to the taste."

Pluto Water, with its mineral content, flushes the bowels and washes away impurities. It is gentle, soothing, healing, non-habit-forming. Corrects constipation and restores normal bowel movements. Acts in 30 minutes to 2 hours.

Sold at all drug counters and at fountains.

which published Dr. Poulson's statement. When Dr. Poulson was placed on the stand, the defense met its first serious setback. The court declined to permit him to testify regarding his motives in issuing the statement or to interpret the language he had used in it.

Other defense witnesses also were checked when Judge Phelan ruled on the stand to testify as to their visits to places where they alleged they had found gambling and liquor selling in progress, but the defense was checked off time and again by objections from the prosecution that the testimony failed to connect the judges personally with the conditions the witnesses described.

The penalty was imposed on only one of three counts in the indictment against Dr. Poulson. This was the publication of the statement in the Newark Star Eagle. The other indictments charge libel in the same statement as published in two other Newark papers.

Bail of $10,000 was continued in each of these charges and the date of trial was set for March 12.

hands. He fell forward stunned but soon asked why she tried to kill him. She then struck him two more blows and dragged the body into the kitchen, because the shades were up in the dining room and neighbors might see.

Then, with the father lying dying on the floor, the minister said she told him, she had some conversation. "She said he asked her to pray for him and she refused to do it. She said she told him she had intended killing him before and spitting in his face but that she would not spit in his face now."

The body, soon after the minister revealed his story, was found in a shallow grave in the basement of the home.

HICKMAN'S 'TIRED' BY JURY GRILLING

Los Angeles, February 16.—(AP)—Work of sifting out a jury to sit in judgment at the murder trial of William E. Hickman and Welby Hunt, his 16-year-old former accomplice in crime, proved a slow process today.

Talesman after talesman underwent lengthy questioning, many were excused and little headway made in determining the final 12 who will try the youths for the killing of C. Ivy Thoms, victim of a holdup shooting. With eight women and four men tentatively in the jury box the prosecution exercised only one temporary challenge and the defense had run its total of challenges to 13, leaving 17 yet available.

File New Appeal Motion.
Earlier today Hickman's attorneys filed a written motion for appeal to the state supreme court on the youth's sentence to death for the slaying of Marian Parker. They indicated they also would appeal the present case if Hickman were found both guilty and sane.

Attorneys in the Thoms case, who yesterday interrogated 34 prospective jurors in rapid-fire order, today dragged the questioning slowly over the familiar paths. The two defendants appeared weary during the lengthy maneuvers.

JACKSON ACQUITTED BY INDIANA JUDGE

course, Judge McCabe pointed out. The state had failed to declare its intent to prosecute because it did not prove the act of concealment.

It was a slightly, perspiring, nervous defendant who declared that he had not concealed the body. For the first time the governor showed outward evidence of strain. Judge McCabe's long absence from the courtroom while he studied the defense motion, appeared to increase the tension that spread throughout the crowded seat of justice. When the case ended, however, Governor Jackson's mouth opened into a wide smile. One of his first acts was to grasp the hand of Samuel H. Colbert, negro laborer, and a member of the jury.

Jurist Assails Ku Klux Klan.

A sensational attack on the Ku Klux Klan, in which he referred to "the slime and disgrace of that organization," was made by Judge McCabe just before he gave his decision. Pointing out that the indictment against Jackson had charged that the power of the Klan had been used as a threat against the state of Indiana.

"How a governor of Indiana could have believed for one moment that the Ku Klux Klan could have controlled verdicts in the courts, I cannot possibly see. I am perfectly aware of the slime and disgrace of that organization. There is no more respectable bit of history in Indiana than the organization and participation in politics of the Ku Klux Klan. It has resulted in dishonor to the state of Indiana."

In his finding that the state had not proved through testimony of McCray, D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Klan; William P. Jones, son-in-law of McCray; James H. Noel, a local attorney, and Fred B. Robinson, alleged agent of Jackson, and others, proof that the case had been concealed, Judge McCabe said:

Says Evidence Is Lacking.
"The evidence in this case, of course, falls very far short of supporting the indictment on the question of concealment."

Reviewing the evidence the court declared he could find no evidence, as charged in the indictment that McCray had kept silent through the years of the alleged offer because of fear. He related how all the evidence tended to show that McCray promptly refused to entertain an alleged offer of a bribe, which the state contended both Robinson and Governor Jackson personally offered.

"I shall have to sustain the motion on the grounds of failure of evidence of concealment," he concluded.

Prosecutor William H. Remy made a valiant effort to save his case when Judge McCabe said he thought concealment had not been proven, by taking the stand himself. He testified that he had no knowledge and had not been informed of the alleged bribery attempt until last July, a day or two before the allegations were printed in the newspapers. The court held that Remy's testimony did not give any proof of concealment.

OIL FRAUD BONDS TRACED TO G. O. P.

and his enemies be prevented from approaching the members of the panel. Taking the stand in the criminal contempt proceedings against Sinclair, William J. Burns, himself and two others, Day said the employment of the detectives was merely to learn who approached the witnesses. Day's counsel, said the witness, and Sinclair had been shadowed constantly before the oil trial and that Day would so testify if permitted to answer, but government objection prevented.

Says Mail Was Opened.

Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company, said Sinclair's mail had been opened and that for two weeks prior to the oil trial the wealthy oil operator had received threatening letters.

In less than a week, Day said, Sinclair became convinced that the surveillance of the jury could not prevent them being approached, because the detectives "lost their subject" so frequently. Sinclair then ordered all the detectives dismissed, but Day persuaded him to retain a few to "cover" three jurors of whom he was not certain.

Day described the employment of Burns detectives and said it was done at Sinclair's direction. The oil man, he said, was greatly disappointed because the oil jury was not locked up. Justice Siddons inquired whether Day knew whether Sinclair's counsel had advised him to employ detectives. Day did not.

Questioned about investigating a mortgage on a juror's home, Day said he investigated that because he feared some of Sinclair's enemies would pay it off "and I wanted to catch them at it."

Justice Siddons asked Day if he was convinced that a detective's report that a juror had conferred with a government employee was true, if he didn't think it should have been reported to the court. Day replied that he never had the "concrete evidence" in his hands.

Cleveland Symphony Here; To Offer Concert Tonight

The Cleveland Symphony orchestra will appear at the auditorium tonight in the only first-class symphony orchestra performance scheduled for the current concert season. The 90 men who compose the personnel of the organization, led by Nikolai Sokoloff, internationally famous conductor, will arrive in Atlanta early this morning.

The concert tonight is one of the artist series of attractions offered by the Southern Musical Bureau. Seats, for which there has been a heavy demand, are on sale at Cable Piano company, on North Broad street. Owing to the size of the auditorium there are many excellent locations still available. The concert will start at 8:30 o'clock and the box office at the auditorium will open promptly at 7 o'clock.

The program for tonight includes some of the most fascinating music in the symphonic library. Best known among the announced numbers, perhaps, is the "Unfinished Symphony," by Schubert. The world contest for a third or concluding movement, held this year in connection with the Schubert centennial, has added to the popular interest in the beautiful number.

Other numbers on the program, illustrative of the wide variety of offerings in which the Cleveland orchestra specializes, are by Goldmark, Bloch, Mozart, Rimsky-Korsakoff, etc.

The Cleveland Symphony ranks among the first group of symphony orchestras in this country. Many of its performers are famous as soloists, and the first three geniuses of the baton in America today and the concert tonight stands as one of the supreme highlights of the 1927-28 season in Atlanta.

OPERATOR W. E. CAIN GIVEN SAFETY MEDAL

Chief W. B. Cody, of the Atlanta fire department, Thursday night at the monthly safety banquet of the Georgia Power company which was attended by the Atlanta street car men, who established the best safety records in January, presented the "Cody Safety Medal" to W. E. Cain, operator on the Soldiers Home line.

Chief Cody, at the February meeting last year, offered the medal to Operator Cain, heading the list of several hundred careful operators, went through the entire year without as much as a minor accident. Neither was there a complaint lodged against him criticizing his operation of a street car or any notice of his being discourteous to passengers.

A large silver loving cup was presented Jim Gilbert, superintendent of "C" division, the division which has maintained the best safety record on the entire Atlanta system for more than one year. The trophy, presented Mr. Gilbert for his division by F. L. Butler, vice president in charge of street railways, the first award ever given a transportation division for a superior safety record.

lost at the dinner, introduced 17 new members to the assemblage. Membership of the club, chosen by invitation, consists of prominent citizens, business organizers for the public good. Officers include Walter O. Foote, secretary, and Ivan Allen, treasurer. Colonel McCormick arrived in Atlanta Thursday morning from Chicago and plans to leave this morning for his winter home at Aiken, S. C.

McCormick's Address.
His address, in part, follows: "Now let me apply the test of geography to Atlanta. We find first a barrier of mountains. While they can be crossed under pressure as they were crossed by pioneers when England closed the Shenandoah Valley and the Spanish blocked the southern plains, traffic will always seek the line of least resistance and will flow around the obstruction."

"Eastern and western transportation will gravitate to the Mohawk pass and to the southern plains. Seeking the shortest line around the obstruction, all merchandise originating north and east of Atlanta will gravitate to Atlanta; all merchandise originating south and west of Atlanta bound for the east and south-east will pass through Atlanta."

"Thus the unavoidable cross road is established and becomes a natural center for distribution for great areas which otherwise might be accommodated by another market place."

"Atlanta has the requisite climate for a southern capital. Perched on the height of land, she is open to the cool breezes blowing from the waters of the Atlantic and the waters of the Gulf. Lying on a natural slope she is given the free drainage necessary to the existence of concentrated population."

"So we see Atlanta seated in the center of a number of concentric circles with radii extending to the important cities of Chattanooga, Pensacola, Jacksonville and Charleston to Nashville, Memphis, New Orleans, Tampa and Wilmington, and in wider sweep to the Pacific coast to Chicago, St. Louis, Houston and New York."

"I am not unaware of other advantages, the bountiful soil, the proximity of great water powers; the presence of valuable mineral deposits. They add to your wealth and fill out the picture, the center and high light of which, however, is your imperial geographical location."

"Atlanta's standing as a national metropolis is established by her occupation of the southern angle of the triangle—New York-Chicago-Atlanta, the three sides of which are the lines of unobstructed railroad transportation. These three cities are the three natural centers of industry east of the Mississippi."

"They may be temporarily obliterated in the future as indeed they have been in the past but if so they must be rebuilt as long as American civilization lasts or until the water is dried or the mountains fall because geography has designated them industrial and commercial capitals of that continent."

17 PASSENGERS DIE ON SPEEDING SHIP

Honolulu, T. H., February 16.—(United News).—Seventeen steerage passengers of the liner President Cleveland died during an epidemic of pneumonia while the ship was racing from Yokohama to Honolulu.

Arriving here today 24 hours ahead of schedule, the President Cleveland was boarded immediately by quarantine physicians, who discovered that 38 other passengers were suffering from pneumonia. One case of smallpox was found, but it was diagnosed as light.

Broke Speed Record.

The steamer broke all records for the dollar line in speed between the two ports. Rapid spread of the disease while the ship was several days out of Honolulu caused officers to force the vessel to its maximum speed in order to reach medical assistance here as quickly as possible.

Fourteen of the most serious cases were removed to local hospitals soon after the ship reached Quarantine, and doctors and nurses went aboard the vessel to relieve the heroic ship's surgeon, Dr. George Belden, who has worked unceasingly for four days and five nights fighting the spread of the epidemic.

The seventeen dead had been buried at sea before the ship reached port.

GOVERNMENT QUILTS SHIPPING BUSINESS ON PACIFIC COAST

Washington, February 16.—(AP)—The government went out of the shipping business on the Pacific coast today when the shipping board sold its remaining three cargo lines for $5,743,661.

In making the sale to three different concerns the board ended a controversy which raged for months over whether the lines should be sold under a five-year or a ten-year guarantee with the advocates of the five-year period prevailing.

PENNSY RAILROAD SETS NEW MARK IN NET RETURNS

Philadelphia, February 16.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad announced tonight that its net income for 1927 was $68,160,296, exceeding by nearly $600,000 the previous high record made in 1926. The net income for 1927 equaled 13.6 per cent on the capital stock, as compared with 13.5 per cent in 1926.

This result was achieved notwithstanding a substantial decrease in both freight and passenger traffic during the year, which became quite pronounced in the closing months, says the company's statement. The gross railway operating revenues for 1927 fell short by nearly $45,000,000 or 6.8 per cent of those earned in the preceding year.

'SMITH FOR CONGRESS' CLUB NOW AT EMORY

BY C. M. McMILLAN.

Political interest in the coming national presidential election is beginning to penetrate even the scholastic atmosphere of the college campus and arguments can be heard in classroom and out as students consider the candidates for the executive office.

The first organized interest along this line is the "Al Smith for President" club which announced its organization Wednesday at Emory university. It is headed by Sanford Smith, of Carrollton, Ga., who has been named president, and Hubert Smith, of Tallapoosa, Ga., named executive manager.

The club has issued an invitation to all who believe in Al Smith enough to support him for president to join the club. Both the Smith boys heading the club are seniors in the school of liberal arts and are influential on the campus. Sanford Smith is at present president of the liberal arts student body.

Immediately following the precedent established by the Smith supporters there were plans and discussions on foot for the establishment of a "Will Rogers for President" club, and also another group who would support a "Hoover for President" club. These three candidates are the foremost possibilities so far in the eyes of Emory students.

The Phi Beta Kappa chapter was granted to Agnes Scott in 1923. This was considered an unusual distinction as there are only nine women's colleges in the world possessing chapters.

COUNCIL REELECTION ASKED BY BOWDEN

James E. Bowden, councilman from the fifth ward, Wednesday made formal entry into the race to succeed himself subject to the city democratic primary of June 6.

JAMES E. BOWDEN.

primary of June 6, and thus precipitated the first actual contest slated thus far in the scheduled election.

Tom Morris, former member of council, announced on the same day the committee set the date for the primary.

In making his entry, Mr. Bowden made the following statement:

"During my former campaign I stated to the people of my ward and the city of Atlanta that I would serve them to the very best of my ability if elected to the office of councilman. This I have endeavored to do and take pleasure in referring each citizen to my record during my first year in council. I have carried out every promise made in my former campaign, as far as was humanly possible, and have been successful in my attempts to help the people of my ward through the cooperation of my friends and colleagues in council. I have found them ready and willing to cooperate with me in every way possible and have spent a very pleasant year there with them, representing not only the people of my ward but the people of Atlanta.

"I am asking the people of the fifth ward that they return me to council for a second term—as I feel with the added experience I have I can be instrumental in aiding my ward further in its development. Our present mayor saw fit to place me on several important committees which I deeply appreciate and I have endeavored to serve in such a manner as to be a credit to the people of the fifth ward.

"If reelected I shall at all times strive to serve every citizen of my ward as I have during my first year and I am glad to state here that no member of my ward has called on me for help in vain—I have cooperated with them in every way possible.

"It will not be possible for me to see each individual in my ward before the election on June 6, but I wish to take this opportunity to let each one know that I appreciate their vote of confidence in the past and shall deem it a great honor to have them reelect me to council and wish to assure them of the same spirit of cooperation in the future as in the past."

Fair Weather Is Local Menu Promised Today

Fair weather with a minimum of 32 degrees and a maximum of 50 degrees is forecast for Atlanta today by C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist.

There will probably be a few high flying clouds today, but only enough to give the sky a few dabs of white, the weather man said.

Mr. von Herrmann believes that Atlanta's really severe weather is over for the winter, although, he says, the city may experience a few freezing temperatures between now and vernal equinox time on March 21. There is no rain in sight at the immediate present, the disturbance over the Gulf of Mexico having passed by quickly Wednesday night with the result that Atlanta got her expected rain sooner than predicted.

LEGION LUNCHEON TODAY; 40 AND 8 TO MEET TONIGHT

THIS easy-pouring five-gallon drum gives you a good home supply of SAFE oil; and the one-gallon tin is handy to carry in your car.

MANY a good automobile has been ruined because its owner had a habit of saying: "Give me a quart of oil." All too often he got an oil that quickly thinned and broke down.

Don't take this costly gamble with your car. You can't win. And it is so easy to play safe by asking for Pan-Am.

This safe oil was developed to give modern motors the extra protection they need because of higher speeds, increased engine heat. It is refined from paraffin base crudes that produce a tougher oil.

That is why Pan-Am holds its body under punishment that soon breaks down less hardy oils. It keeps the hottest friction spots in any motor safe from destructive wear. Yet Pan-Am actually costs you less than ordinary motor oil, because it stays on the job long after others thin to the danger point.

Fill up today at the first Pan-Am pump you see. You can be sure of honest service from any Pan-Am dealer. And you know that the products he sells are produced and distributed by one reliable organization.

CLEAN gasoline

Next time you see a Pan-Am pump, look at the gasoline in the visible bowl. Note its crystal-clear color... the absence of any dirt or foreign matter. This gasoline is clean! It is processed with unusual care to remove the carbon-forming elements found in many gasolines.

That means a motor clean as a whistle, for tip-top performance! It means less carbon trouble and knocking—a wealth of extra power—and mileage economy such as you have never known before.

LABOR 'ORGANIZER' 1 KILLED AS THREE SLAIN IN MINE ROW

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., February 16.—(AP)—Frank Agati, of West Wyoming, organizer for district one, United Mine Workers of America, was shot and killed today in the private office of Rinaldo Cappellini, district president, in the Miners Bank building here.

An automatic pistol was emptied at Agati by one of a committee of three conferring with him on grievances at number six colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company in the Pittston district, witnesses said.

Police tonight were seeking Sam Benito, of Pittston, newly elected president of the local union at that mine, as the actual slayer. They arrested Steve Mendola, of Pittston, soon after the shooting. Adam Moleksi, of Inerkmann, surrendered to the district attorney's staff at the courthouse.

Carried Two Pistols.

Mendola when arrested was armed with two pistols, police said. One weapon he owned to, but the other he said had been slipped into his pocket as he fled from the place by Benito. Mendola accused Benito of being the actual slayer.

There has been trouble for some time at No. 6 mine over the contract system in vogue there. At the conference Agati remarked as to "foolishness" in the conduct of the union affairs and this remark was said to have brought on the attack.

Hasn't a Bit of Asthma Now

Says Wheeze and Cough Entirely Gone. Tells What Did It.

For the benefit of asthma sufferers, Mr. Charles Dean, 9104 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., tells how he got rid of this stubborn disease. Mr. Dean says:

"I began having asthma in 1912. Kept getting worse, and couldn't do a day's work. I would wheeze and choke and if I walked a square, I had to lean against a post and rest. In October, 1923, I began taking Nacox. Relief came very promptly, and continued to improve, gaining 15 pounds in weight. I feel perfectly well again, and Nacox is the only medicine that ever brought me relief."

Hundreds of other sufferers from asthma, bronchitis and chronic coughs have reported their recovery after years of affliction. Their letters and a booklet of valuable information about these diseases will be sent free by Nacox Medicine Co., 619 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. No matter how serious your case, write for this free booklet. It may give your whole life a new meaning.—(ads.)

Atlanta Girls Prettiest, Paramount Girl Declares

MISS EDNA KIRBY.

Five days spent caged in a glass house in full view of downtown throngs may not have qualified Miss Edna Kirby to give her impressions of Atlanta as a city, but they have been sufficient to cause her to determine one thing at least. That is, that Atlanta is blessed with more pretty women than any place she has ever before visited.

"In saying that Atlanta is a city of beautiful women without a peer," she said Thursday, "I don't refer to a few beauties of citywide and even section-wide renown. I refer to Atlanta girls and women in general."

"As a gaze out of the plate glass windows of the M. Rich & Bros. Co. I am struck with the fact that just of the feminine faces in the crowd watching me are pretty. Close observation during the past five days has convinced me that Atlanta women not only are naturally beautiful, but that they also have a proper sense of enhancing that beauty with the aid of correct clothing and treatment of their faces, their hair, their hands and of themselves generally."

"Of course, I'd heard lots about Atlanta's beautiful women before I came here from Hollywood, but I must confess that I'm surprised at the fact that rumor in this case has not been exaggerated. Atlanta women are pretty—they are wholesome—I like them."

She was caught booking—taking bets on horse races—at the corner of Fifty-Ninth street and Third avenue.

STAGE PAYS HONOR TO DEAD COMEDIAN

Kansas City, February 16.—(AP)—The farewell tour of Eddie Foy, veteran stage comedian, ended in death here today.

As he had willed it, Foy died before age had forced him from the footlights. The 71-year-old actor appeared at the Orpheum theater last night in his play, "The Fallen Star." Heart attack seized him when he awoke in his hotel room this morning and within a little more than an hour he was dead.

After living in state at an undertaking parlor, arrangements were made to send the body to New Rochelle, N. Y., for burial.

Wife at Bedside.

News of the passing of Foy, who had been on the stage for more than half a century, brought words of condolence from theatrical stars throughout the country.

"A great actor," "the greatest clown," and "a lovable character" were terms used in describing the veteran. Mrs. Foy, who was the actor's fourth wife, was with him at death. The Rev. John Hennessey, administrator of the last rites of the Catholic church.

Six of the seven Foy children, who were scheduled to open a vaudeville engagement at Madison, Wis., today were notified and will join the funeral party at Chicago. The eldest son was in California.

Foy confided in a friend Tuesday night that he did not believe he would be able to finish out the season. But on another occasion here he told newspapermen that he had no intention of retiring.

"Who's the shirker? Who's Ma?" he demanded of interviewers. "Shay, I'll fall over into the orchestra pit first," he declared in characteristic fashion, speaking out of one corner of his mouth.

Started as Dancer.

Starting his theatrical career in Chicago in 1899 with a clog dance at a benefit performance, Foy rose to a place on Broadway as a musical comedy star. In later years his engagements were mostly on the vaudeville stage.

JOHN MCLELLAND FRIENDS ORGANIZE WARD SOCIETIES

Formation of a county-wide Mclelland-for-Solicitor club was underway Thursday night when seventh ward friends of John Mclelland, who is opposing Carlton W. Rims for the position of solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, organized the Seventh Ward society with Louis N. Moore as chairman.

The Rev. Dr. Gerald Culbertson, pastor of the West End Christian church, was elected secretary. The meeting was held at the home of L. A. Smith.

Ninth ward friends of Mr. Mclelland formed a similar organization Wednesday night and named J. A. Diederich as chairman and Henry A. Lawrence as secretary.

With these two clubs as a nucleus others will be formed immediately in every section of the county, the Mclelland campaign committee announced.

One of the clubs will be organized next Wednesday night at the home of Judge L. P. Mclelland, 1516 Morningstar drive.

Garbage Ordinance Will Be Discussed At Meeting of Club

James E. Beavers, chief of police; John Jentzen, chief of the sanitary department; L. L. Wallis, manager of parks, and managers of chain groceries and drug stores, will meet with a group of prominent Atlanta women at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Atlanta Woman's club to discuss more rigid enforcement of the section of the city ordinance dealing with disposal of garbage.

The civic department of the Woman's club, Mrs. J. R. Little, chairman, is sponsoring the meeting. It will be open to the public. Other subjects vital to the welfare of citizens of Atlanta will be discussed.

The city ordinance section provides that garbage and refuse of all kinds be placed in garbage containers with covers over them and that it is strictly against the city ordinance for refuse of any kind to be thrown into the streets or placed on sidewalks, to be taken up by the city sanitary department.

Broadway Mourns Eddie Foy Whom It Refused To Applaud

BY SAM LOVE.

New York, February 16.—(United News)—Eddie Foy's death meant something to everyone on Broadway. Within the last year or so, a partial reconciliation had been effected, but not to the extent that the youngsters would give up their own acts to join their father in "Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foyes." The oldest boy, Bryan, is acting and scenario-writing in Hollywood. The others are in Madison, Wis., in an act of their own called "The Foy Family."

Just before he went happily forth on his farewell tour, Foy completed with Alvin F. Harlow his biography, called "Clowning Through Life." The first copies came from E. P. Dutton and company, the publishers, only two weeks before his death.

SCHOOL DANCES ARE NOT OPPOSED BY MRS. ANDREWS

Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the Atlanta civic council of women, Thursday night gave a statement to The Constitution in which she said that she was not opposed to dancing in the city schools, nor to dancing at other places under proper chaperonage.

She stated that girls of the city, as well as the boys, have few places for recreation, and that dancing provides them with plenty of exercise, and when properly supervised, that no sound argument can be made against it. She believes that when girls and boys are allowed to dance, whenever they please, they soon will grow tired of it.

HARRY HILL ELATED BY JURY DEADLOCK

Ottawa, Ill., February 16.—(AP)—The jury deliberating the fate of Harry Hill, charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Hill, was locked up in its hotel quarters here at 9 o'clock tonight, at the end of the 55th hour since it received the case.

Twice during the day they asked to be discharged, telling Judge Joe Davis they could not agree. Reports said they apparently were deadlocked, 8 to 4 for conviction.

Judge To Hold Jury.

The case of the young man, accused of shooting his elderly mother and burying her body in a basement, was given to the jury Tuesday afternoon. A disagreement was reported yesterday, when the men were sent back by Judge Joe A. Davis.

Harry was greatly pleased at the news of a second request for discharge. He began to paraphrase a song, "My Boy Friend and Me," substituting the words, "My Friend Hanson and Me."

Wilson-Lawrenson Vice President Mortgage Company

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 16.—(AP)—F. A. Wilson-Lawrenson, former publisher of the Atlanta Georgian and a former director and vice president of the Union Carbon and Carbide company, has been named a director and vice president of the Southern Mortgage Guarantee corporation, it was announced here today. The company has been organized to guarantee first mortgages on income producing realty of the south. It has an authorized capitalization of $25,000,000.

Beauty and Business

THERE are twenty-six fitting rooms on the second floor and two charming French rooms. The spacious aisle leading from the elevators to the front leaves a feeling of freedom, eliminating the close contacts and resulting irritations caused by the usual crowded salesroom. The several alcoves or bays devoted to selling allow the privacy so essential to deliberate selection. They are mirrored beautifully. Carpets soften the sometime harsh staccato of footsteps, and the acoustics absorb the strident noises of ordinary business activities, reducing them to a murmur.

Beautiful Fashions in a beautiful environment, at economical prices.

PLAN NEW HIGHWAY BRUNSWICK-AUGUSTA

Brunswick, Ga., February 16.—(Special.)—Meeting at Glennville yesterday to start a movement for a short-cut highway between Brunswick and Augusta, representatives from various counties through which the proposed new highway passed, discussed the matter at some length, named temporary officers and then decided to hold another meeting in Statesboro on March 8, at which time a permanent organization will be perfected.

Considerable interest in the new highway was manifested and it was pointed out that there were now only a few miles of unimproved highway along the entire stretch, for which provision has already been made. The new route would reduce the distance between Brunswick and Augusta by many miles and at the same time offer a good highway to a rapidly growing section of the state.

Coming to Erlanger.

In a series of the famous New York Theatre Guild's best-known and most successful plays, the Theatre Guild Repertory company, with George Gaul and Florence Eldridge, will begin a limited engagement in Atlanta at the Erlanger theater on Monday night, February 20. Seats for all performances may be had at the Erlanger box office and at Phillips & Crew Piano company.

Keith's Georgia.

Those who have seen the show at the Georgia this week agree that it is one of the best of the season. With its radio music, its top-line attraction it would be difficult to improve on it as entertainment. Miss Primrose Semon, star comedienne, is another act going at top speed. On the screen is a Zane Grey western thriller, "Under the Tonto Rim," and holds the closest attention from beginning to end.

Capitol.

The rollicking, swarming life of a sailor of the sea, as it is in the year 1925, is depicted in the immortal pleasure of audiences in "Sharp Shooters," the feature picture at the Capitol theater this week. George O'Brien, stellar young star of the screen, is featured in the leading role, and Lois Moran, beautiful young star, is seen opposite O'Brien. The vaudeville bill this week is exceptionally fine, featuring the Jarvis Revue of 1928, a peppy offering of song and dance, and including a big "laughterpiece" which sets audiences in a roar of laughter. Other acts on the bill are the Balabanows, acrobatic artists extraordinary; Ben Smith, imitable comic; William Bennet and company and the Caedonian Four.

Loew's Grand.

"The Enemy," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of Channing Pollock's famous stage classic, will be the screen feature at Loew's Grand starting Monday, February 20, and will find Lillian Gish, one of the screen's most noted beauties, in the starring role. Ralph Forbes, blonde star of "Rough Geste," also will be a featured player in the cast. Theatergoers who have seen "The Enemy" as a stage success are in for a surprise, according to Manager James, since the entire last portion of the play, including the efforts of those makers of the cinema who have striven to prepare for us in celluloid something of what once happened in the fields of France.

Howard.

Norma Talmadge, more beautiful than ever, is the star of "The Dove," now at the Howard. This is a film of vast and inimitable entertainment qualities. It is a terrifically funny, vivacious, and triumphantly far, for the most part, from the sticky slabs of sentiment which heretofore have featured and marred the efforts of those makers of the cinema who have striven to prepare for us in celluloid something of what once happened in the fields of France.

What Price Glory?

"What Price Glory?" now at the Rialto, is a film of vast and inimitable entertainment qualities. It is a terrifically funny, vivacious, and triumphantly far, for the most part, from the sticky slabs of sentiment which heretofore have featured and marred the efforts of those makers of the cinema who have striven to prepare for us in celluloid something of what once happened in the fields of France.

LONG OUT OF WORK.

MAN FOUND DEAD OF BULLET WOUND

R. O. Beagle, 50, of 191 Forrest avenue, was found dead in bed with a bullet through his brain Thursday morning when Bessie Sims, negro maid, who lives at the Tudor, according to a report by Patrolmen Melton and Hughes, Beagle had been out of work for some time, police were told.

The maid told officers she heard a loud report early Thursday morning, but thought at the time that the noise was caused by carpenters at work. Police reported that no letters were found with the body.

At an inquest held Thursday afternoon in the Ed Bond & Company funeral parlors, a verdict of "death from a bullet wound in his head, self-inflicted," was returned. Coroner Paul Douthett was in charge of the inquest.

Funeral arrangements for Beagle will be delayed pending arrival of relatives from Augusta.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. P. Curtis and Mrs. A. Wood, both of Augusta.

Others to accompany the singers and assist them in the concert are Mike McDowell, Madison, accompanist; Chess Loganissimo, Atlanta; Hugh Probaum, Morrisville, Tenn.; and Erwin Morgan, Atlanta, instrumental; Roscoe Smith, Macon; Russell West, Moultrie; Harry Bone, Milledgeville, Albany; and manager; Raymond Nixon, publicity manager; and Dr. Dewey, director.

Miss Gladys Crook, manager of the Imperial concert agency, in London, is handling arrangements for the club's tour in Great Britain. Contracts already have been signed with the Coliseum, the largest variety theater in London, for two weeks' appearance. The club appeared at this theater during the trip in 1926.

New York, February 16.—(AP)—The large, tri-motored monoplane completed for Commander Richard E. Byrd, south pole expedition took the air for the first time today.

Floyd Bennett, Byrd's pilot on his flight to the north pole and a member of the south pole expedition, was at the controls and pronounced the plane "a nice job." In contrast to the first flight of Byrd's trans-Atlantic America, which was formerly owned by Bennett as a member of her crew, the flight today was declared a complete success.

L. Behre, Jackson, Tenn.; A. M. Dickson, Savannah, Ga.; E. E. Duncan, South Carolina; T. H. Barre, New Orleans. The executive committee will hold a meeting at the next meeting place. The convention was voted the most successful both in attendance and business transacted in the history of the organization.

Savannah, Ga., February 16.—(AP)—The country clubhouse of Ale Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine at Thunderbolt, five miles from Savannah, was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock this morning. The clubhouse and bowling alleys were destroyed. The club property, which had a splendid frontage, was formerly owned by the Savannah Yacht club and was known to yachtsmen along the entire Atlantic coast.

It is expected the place will be rebuilt with a modern structure taking the place of that destroyed.

Washington, February 16.—(United News.)—The senate was urged to take immediate action on the alien property bill today by Chairman Reed Smoot, of the senate finance committee, when the measure was brought up.

Prompt return, as far as possible, of property of enemy aliens confiscated during the war, and early adjustment of American claims as provided by the bill, was favored by Smoot. He said the legislation "is of the most importance" and that "the existing situation demands immediate action."

St. Louis, February 16.—(United News.)—Major league baseball and Urban Shocker have come to the parting of the ways.

The Yankee star, who won 19 games and lost 6 for the champions in 1927, announced today that he has retired permanently from baseball.

He broke the news of his retirement in a telegram to Business Manager Ed Barrow, of the Yankees, as follows:

"Received letter. Due consideration of present state of affairs urges me to voluntarily retire from major league baseball for the furtherance of my business interests at home."

Shocker, who has been a holdout and that there had been no friction between him and Yankee officials.

"The end of my career will come eventually, so why not resign while I can leave a good record behind me. I feel that my work with the Yankees during the past two seasons is the best selling record I have."

The San Jose Basketball tournament got away with a flying start at the city auditorium when Maddox Park beat Adair Park by a score of 27-27 in a fast game. Moon and Woodall were stars for the winning aggregation and Shatter led the losers in scoring.

The game scheduled between the O'Keefe Panthers and the Wildcat went to the Panthers by forfeit when the Wildcat team failed to show up.

Harry Cooper, Armour Win Exhibition Match
Bloomington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Shocking a 69 for 1 below par over the Gulf Hills course here today to win low medal money, Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., tied with Tommy Armour, national open champion, over Al Espinosa, Illinois professional titleholder, and Eddie Murphy, Iowa pro, 5 and 3 in a foursome. A large gallery followed the match.

JOURNALISM SCHOOL DRAWS FAME EL SNORS

Macon, Ga., February 16.—(AP)—Approximately 100 Georgia editors filed into class rooms at Mercer university today, pushing and jostling as they did in class, when they responded to the school song. The editors were green eggs. Their return to school even brought half-forgotten boyish pranks and while the teacher's back was turned in several instances spit-balls were heaved about the room.

Ponce de Leon.

Thrills, chills, suspense and fear mark the action in the unfolding of the super-horror drama, "The Cat and the Canary," featuring Laura La Plante, the very much preferred blonde, at the head of an all-star cast. This Universal picture is making its last showings here at the Ponce de Leon today. Fantastic, bizarre, interior sets lend a dramatic setting for the enactment of the plot, which transpires in a spooky country home, haunted by a fiendish rainstorm. The players in addition to Laura La Plante, are Arthur Edmund Carew, Creighton Hale, Forrest Stanley, Tully Marshall, Gertrude Astor and others.

West End.

Life aboard a clipper ship, such as played the canvas more than a hundred years ago, is lived in all its brutal and elemental reality in "The Blood Ship," Columbia Pictures' mighty drama, narrated by the very much preferred blonde, at the head of an all-star cast. This Universal picture is making its last showings here at the Ponce de Leon today. Fantastic, bizarre, interior sets lend a dramatic setting for the enactment of the plot, which transpires in a spooky country home, haunted by a fiendish rainstorm. The players in addition to Laura La Plante, are Arthur Edmund Carew, Creighton Hale, Forrest Stanley, Tully Marshall, Gertrude Astor and others.

Alamo No. 2.

One of the most intensive efforts ever made to inspire a crowd of screen extras to a pitch of emotion was successful in the case of the West End Lillian Gish's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "The Scarlet Letter." In the dramatic church scene in the great volume of news that has been sifted every twenty-four hours, to meet the needs of each community. He said that there was a growing demand for the state college of agriculture, made the only other address of note today.

Tudor.

Jack Dempsey's popularity with the public is growing, despite his apparent retirement from the ring, the reaction of the editors of the newspaper, where the Dempsey-Tunney fight pictures are showing, indicates. Tex Rickard could make two or three more millions by getting Jack Dempsey into the ring against the unpopular Tunney. The Tudor has secured a new and better version of the classic fight, the most sensational and wide-spread of the ring, and the slow motion screening of the fateful seventh round.

Palace.

Dolores Costello, star of "The Heart of Maryland," which closes at the Palace tonight, has never been so appealingly beautiful as in the role of Maryland Calvert—the girl, who, while passionately loving the south, faced death for her love of a soldier of the north. Saturday's "Outlaws of the Border," is a Tom Mix western thriller.

Smithies Trim A. M. I., 47-19, in Cotton States Opener

Vienna Beats Darlington In Feature

Three of Four Georgia Teams Left in Tournament Play at Auburn.

BY SAMMY ADAMS.

Auburn, Ala., February 16.—Three Georgia teams, Tech High, of Atlanta, Athens High and Vienna High, survived the first round of the seventh annual Cotton States Basketball tournament, which got underway here today.

Alabama likewise had three teams to go through the opening round, while Tennessee and Florida had one each. With the exception of two games completed in the first round was keen. For the most part all games were hard fought and interesting throughout.

The hardest fought game played during the day was that between Vienna High, south Georgia's representative, and Darlington school from Rome, Ga. The wonder here was the peach belt won by a score of 42-26, but not until the Romans had staged a gallant fight. At the end of the first quarter, Darlington held a 6-to-4 margin but the Viennians came back strong for the second period and were leading at the half, 17 to 10.

Vienna continued its attack in the last half and found the baskets for 21 additional points. Vienna showed complete superiority in passwork and dribbling and were cool under fire.

Failure to make good easy cup shots and free throws caused Darlington's undoing and the Romans began to falter in these departments the score would have probably been different.

Smithies Win. Another interesting game was that of Tech High, of Atlanta, and Anniston Military, of Alabama. The Georgians, led by White and Mott, who scored 14 points each, took a 47-to-29 count from them after a hard struggle. The Smithies displayed excellent form and have been picked by many to reach the finals.

City High school, of Knoxville, Tenn., passed and shot its way to an easy 59-to-14 victory and the largest score of the day, over Lineville, Ala. High, Athens High, of Athens, Ga., found little opposition in its opening game and vanquished Chambers County High, of Daleville, Ala., by a 33-to-14 score. Milport, Ala. High made its initial start in the big meet by trouncing Tallapoosa, Ala. High, 50 to 26.

Malone High, Florida's only representative in the tourney, after a slow and uninteresting game with Opelika, Ala. High, held the large end of a 35-to-21 score.

Slocomb, Ala. High, by staging a rally in the last half, scored a 26-to-13 victory over Greensboro, Ala. High in what proved to be one of the best games during the day.

Record Tossing.

Savannah, Ga., February 16.—(AP) What is believed to be a record for the state of Georgia in a free-throw basketball tourney has been established by R. Baker, center of the Benedictine school quarter. He tossed the sphere through the hoop for a score of 68 of a possible 75. Young Baker at the time of the competition was taking part in the fourth annual free-throw tournament sponsored by the Savannah Press. His score will be entered in the world's tournament in Charleston the latter part of next month.

HAWKEYE-ING SPORTS BY DICK HAWKINS.

An Event of Interest.

The blustery month of March, which awaits its curtain call just back stage, will bring a little act of keen interest to a lot of people throughout Dixie.

We refer to the Birmingham Kennel club show, which is to be staged over the three days beginning March 15. Unfortunately, the bench shows, like field trials, do not command the attention of the majority of sportsmen.

Though the event this year is to be held in the Steel City of the South, Georgia dogs will play an important part in the proceedings. In fact, experts will tell you that a few proud canines from the Empire State are sure to place in the money.

Among others there is the famous pointer, "Billy's Big Mike," owned by C. G. Houston. This bird dog posed its way to victory in the open class stakes in 1927, then went right on to make it unanimous by winning the best of breed stakes.

One matter of keen interest to the sportsman is the plan to enlarge the sporting dogs' division of the show this year. Birmingham is centrally located among the many Alabama handlers who train field trials dogs and many of them have already signified their intention of entering strings of trial dogs in the sporting event.

The Idlewood kennels of Atlanta are expected to play an important role in the non-sporting division of the show. The Messers, Dennard, Wells and Finns have some of the finest wire-haired terriers in the south entered and Atlanta will also enter former prize winners among the airdales and fox terriers.

One of the most beautiful breeds entered in any bench show is the shepherd, and in this group Atlanta has a former prize winner entered. Pierre of Niskey is the shepherd owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Toole, which in the 1927 fixture won first novice, first American-bred and went to reserve winners before calling a halt.

While on the subject of Atlanta fanciers and their dogs it would not do to overlook Frank Coffey, who so ably placed the airdales and fox terriers in the 1927 show. His entries can never be overlooked in any bench show.

A Fine 19th Hole.

Almost everyone has heard of the "19th hole" and many of us have played, or perhaps it would be better to say participated, in the 19th hole at several golf clubs.

Thursday we had occasion to go to the Capital City Country club for a round of golf with Howard Beckett and while Howard and I DID NOT play 19 holes we took time to look over the 19th hole (sometimes known as a locker room) and the statement is now definitely made by your correspondent that such a 19th hole is hard to duplicate and impossible to beat.

There is but one criticism to be made of the locker and shower rooms, now finished at the new clubhouse. The shower room in particular is entirely too h'gosh magnificent. We would hesitate to take a shower for fear we would get water on the floor or fingerprints on the silver shower handles. Now, they may not be silver, but they look just like it.

And the sanctum of Mr. Beckett! It is a deliberate frame-up. With all the beautiful showcases and easy chairs and everything, a body will think he has to buy something just to pay for the privilege of looking at the layout. 'Taint right. But just try and make Mr. Beckett believe that. You can't do it—for money.

We have fully decided to visit the Capital City Country club more often now just in order to feel at home in all that grandeur. Maybe after a few more visits we won't stop and take our shoes off before entering the locker room. There's just one way to express the matter. It's just SWELL.

Kid Macon Wins Over Jim Henton

The "white folks" turned out in large numbers for Billy Hooper's boxing show, featured by an all colored cast, Thursday night at the colored Elks' Rest.

In the main affair of the evening Kid Macon battered and jabbed his way to a well-earned 10-round decision over Jim Henton. The bout was full of fighting from beginning to end, but Macon was too much for the Henton boy.

In a semi-windup Richard Moore trimmed Joe Davidson via the kayo route in three rounds. Gene Thomas won a five-round decision over Dixie Pans. It took Lightning Howard only two rounds to dispose of Kid Henry. In the first bout Carl Williams won over Frank Powell when Powell split his hand and was unable to answer the bell for the third round. A battle royal opened the show.

Hansen Tames Terrible Scot In Mat Bout

New Yorker Takes One Hour for First Fall; Two Minutes for Second.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Charles Hansen, of New York, Sweden and other points east, who admits, modestly, that he is a very good grappler, sunk the heaving form of Scotland's hero of the mat, Scotty McDougal, in two straight falls at city auditorium Thursday night.

Mr. McDougal, who heretofore has also been known to admit that he is as hard as they make 'em and a pretty good grappler himself, found his rough tactics of no avail against the former pupil of Farmer Burns.

There were a few cries of "fake" from the customers Thursday night and of course they may be right. They can't be wrong all the time. However, the record of Hansen shows but four defeats in 14 years of wrestling, during which time he has met such men as London, Wladek Zhyzsko, Davis, court, Big Munn and defeated them all.

He went four hours with the elder Zhyzsko when that rolly-polly gentleman was champion and has demonstrated at various other times and places that he is among the best in the land.

After the first fall Mr. Hansen made his modest admission of fame and offered to meet any 50 men that could be produced today at the gymnasium of the Ringside club and beat up without any rest between the bouts. Now that is a great task but it is entirely possible that Mr. Hansen could do it if he were sufficiently urged.

Hansen took the first fall in 52 minutes and 15 seconds with a series of flying headlocks followed by a body block. He then proceeded to pin Scotty's shoulders in two minutes flat, using the same hold as in the first fall. This by way of proving his assertion of ability.

Jack Evans, of Savannah, Ga., threw Ivan Mickailoff, of Chicago, in 13 minutes flat in the one fall opening match. Mickailoff's shoulders were pinned with a body block which followed a frank hold with which the Savannah grappler jammed the Chicagoan to the mat. Both wrestlers were inclined to be rough but their efforts were eclipsed by those of the principals.

Plans are also being formulated for a horse show to be held about April 15 and McPherson has already scheduled single engagements with Fort Oglethorpe, Fort Benning and the Horse Guards.

S. E. Polo Tournament Planned for May 15

Fort McPherson Riding Club, Recently Organized, Backs Tourney; Horse Show Is Planned.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

With the organization this week of the Fort McPherson Polo and Riding club, an active polo season for Atlanta is assured and also at least one polo tournament during the spring, according to present plans of the club.

The club was organized by officers stationed at Fort McPherson, with the idea of taking in civilians as associate members to help foster polo in Atlanta. A southeastern tournament is planned for May 10 which should bring to Atlanta six of the best teams in this section of the country.

For some years polo has been struggling to gain a foothold here, but interest has not run very high. In December of 1926 a southeastern tournament was staged at Fort McPherson and caused a deal of attention. Several games were played last spring with Fort McPherson pitted against the Governor's Horse Guards, Fort Oglethorpe and Fort Benning.

Strong Teams. The tournament planned for this spring will bring to Atlanta such teams as the Sixth Cavalry of Fort Oglethorpe, Fort Bragg, N. C.; Savannah Polo club, 22d Infantry of Fort McPherson, and the Governor's Horse Guards of Atlanta.

Practice has been under way at the Fort during the winter. New mounts have been secured and it is expected that a better team will represent Fort McPherson this year than in previous years. Major Frank, Captain A. G. Wing, Lieutenants Foster, Proctor, Weckering, Hunter, Whitley and McDaniel have been working steadily.

The best four of the group has shaped up with Major Frank, Captain Wing, Lieutenants Foster and Proctor. McPherson lost one of its best players when Lieutenant Lynch was ordered to the Philippines, but the team mentioned above is capable of giving any squad in this section several interesting chukkers.

The polo season will open around April 15 and McPherson has already scheduled single engagements with Fort Oglethorpe, Fort Benning and the Horse Guards.

Plans are also being formulated for a horse show to be held about April 15 and McPherson has already scheduled single engagements with Fort Oglethorpe, Fort Benning and the Horse Guards.

Baseball A Business, Says Court

Georgia Supreme Court Rules Thustly, in Awarding Damages in Suit.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Professional baseball is a business and not a sport, the Georgia supreme court held here Thursday in affirming the decision of a lower court in sustaining the Georgia industrial commission in awarding damages to the widows of two players who were killed while traveling from one place to another to play a regularly scheduled baseball game.

The high court in making the ruling upheld the Richmond county superior court which had affirmed a ruling of the Georgia industrial commission in awarding damages of $3,825 each to the widows of Emil Hubn, former manager of the Augusta, South Atlantic league, club, and Frank Reiger, a pitcher of the club, following their deaths in an accident while en route to play baseball, the Metropolitan Casualty Insurance company, and the Augusta Baseball club, employees of the men, being directed to pay the damages.

Appealing to the supreme court on a writ of error, the Metropolitan Casualty Insurance company and the Augusta Baseball club contended that the industrial commission had no jurisdiction over the case, since the accident occurred in South Carolina and that the case belonged under the jurisdiction of the federal court. The writ also contended that professional baseball is a sport and not a business over which the industrial commission under the Georgia workmen's compensation act would have jurisdiction and attacked the constitutionality of the compensation law itself on the ground that it deprived an employee of his right to contract freely.

The supreme court held that the workmen's compensation law, given "a reasonable construction," conferred upon the commission jurisdiction in such cases, despite the claim that the injuries were sustained in another state, and further ruled that the law did not restrict the workman's constitutional liberty, as it left him the option of appealing to the commission.

Hubn and Reiger were killed near Camden, S. C., about September 1, 1925, while they, with three other players, Joe Buskey, Kenneth Sedgewick, and Harry Smythe, were returning from a series at Charlotte, N. C., in an automobile. The other players were injured in the accident.

SOLICITOR PROBES SHOOTING OF PRICE

The death Tuesday night of Francis E. Price, Constitution staff photographer, was under investigation Thursday by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, with a view to presenting the case to an early session of the Fulton county grand jury. Meanwhile Mrs. Aline L. Blood, of 317 Ponce de Leon, is being held at police headquarters on the recommendation of a coroner's jury, which named her in connection with the death.

Price was found on the sixth floor of The Constitution building with a bullet through his temple a few minutes after he and Mrs. Blood had stepped from an elevator.

Among witnesses interrogated Thursday by Solicitor General Boykin was Eugene Smith, elevator operator, who reiterated his statement previously made at the coroner's inquest Wednesday to the effect he had let the couple out on the sixth floor, returning a few moments later when the shots rang out.

J. A. Hubbard, superintendent of The Constitution building, one of the first to reach the scene, told of locating the body as lying just outside the office door with a pistol containing two empty shells lying near by. The gun was identified as one kept by Price in his office.

Other testimony Thursday by J. M. Odum, night watchman, was that Price had shown him a scalp wound which he said was inflicted by Mrs. Blood. Price having asked the watchman to prevent her entering the building.

It is unlikely that sufficient evidence will be available for today's meeting of the grand jury, while Mrs. Blood will be held in the city jail pending this disposition, police say.

Wives of Firemen Dine With Mates At Fire Station

Intrepid members of headquarters company, Atlanta fire department, dined the fire bell to ring between 1 and 2 o'clock Thursday and got away with it.

The occasion was a rabbit dinner and to make room for it the aerial truck was trundled out of the way and a long table spread in its place.

The dinner, Assistant Chief Robert H. Presley presided, was a gathering of the "husbands and wives of headquarters company." Of course, among the 28 members of that company there were a few bachelors, Chief Presley said, but they were invited, too.

Utterly oblivious of the presence, 15 feet away, of the dinner bell which might any minute break up the dinner and call the men away to their fire-fighting, leaving only the women to dispose of 40 rabbits and other choice viands, the husbands and wives and bachelors of headquarters company made merry for an hour.

Just as the dinner started, the uninitiated guests got a thrill. The big bell on the indicator changed five times, and with the first clang an assortment of gasps arose from the women.

The indicator didn't indicate, however, for the bell was merely informing one and all that it was 1 o'clock.

Chief W. B. Cody, in a short talk, welcomed the wives and daughters of his men, and proposed that they form an auxiliary to the fire department, such as is maintained in other cities.

Chief Presley and E. C. Piche, his brother, arranged and conducted the dinner.

PLANT TO TURN CORN INTO RYE AND GIN FOUND

A plant for conversion of corn whiskey into rye and gin was raided Thursday by Prohibition Agents W. C. Allen and Eugene Head at 741 Ponce de Leon court, according to the officers. The proprietor escaped.

The officers said that they found 241-2 gallons of corn whiskey and seven quarts of rye and four and a half gallons of "gin," together with a quantity of labels and bottles, in the house.

Summer Camp Plans Discussed by Leaders of Camp Fire Girls

The advisory committee of the Camp Fire Girls of Atlanta Thursday discussed plans for financing a summer camp on a large tract of land recently purchased at Toccoa Falls.

The need for such a camp was outlined by Mrs. Marvin Underwood, member of the board of directors and active in girls' work in Atlanta, who pointed out that present camp facilities provide outings for only 600 of Atlanta's 16,000 girls each summer. No action was taken on the matter in which funds are to be raised.

CHANCES OF GEORGE BRIGHT, SAYS UPSHAW

"The chances of Senator Walter F. George's actual nomination grow brighter every minute," former Congressman William D. Upshaw said Thursday on his return from Boston where he opposed Joseph Fly in a debate on Governor Al Smith's availability as a democratic presidential candidate, taking the negative side.

Mr. Upshaw left Thursday night for Birmingham to address the four state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union tonight on the subject, "Militant American Womanhood and Our National Crisis."

From Birmingham, Mr. Upshaw will go to Beaumont, Texas, where he will begin a three weeks' tour through Texas in a campaign for good citizenship and law observance.

His opponent in Boston, Mr. Upshaw said, began his rebuttal in the debate with the statement, "If we cannot get Smith, I am ready to support your man, George, of Georgia."

The audience applauded vigorously, said the former congressman.

His Texas engagements, Mr. Upshaw said, had compelled him to decline an invitation to debate Clarence Darrow in Chicago on February 24, on the eighteenth amendment.

353 CHILDREN AT RITE HOSPITAL DURING YEAR

The Scottish Rite hospital for crippled children located in Decatur and maintained by Scottish Rite Masons of Georgia, during 1927 treated 353 children, spending on each child an average sum of $161.20, it was revealed this week by the hospital superintendent in a report covering the institution's work for 1927.

A total of 8,083 treatments were administered during the year, the report showed, the hospital caring for an average number of 60 patients per day. Deformities corrected reached a total of 97 for the year.

Children in the hospital January 1, 1927, numbered 51 in the report, new children admitted during the year numbered 110, and former patients re-admitted for treatment totaled 192—making an aggregate number of 353 treated during the 12 months.

Of this number 53 were still in the hospital December 31, 1927, the report set out, the other three hundred having been discharged after treatment. The number expected to return for further medical attention was placed at 292, only one patient was reported as having died during 1927, according to the report.

CHICAGO LAUDED AS ALL-YEAR-ROUND PLAYGROUND CITY

In connection with the visit to Atlanta today of a delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce, Harley C. Darlington, assistant manager of the Stevens hotel, in Chicago, the world's largest hotel, Thursday declared that Chicago is not only a central market but is an all-year-round playground, the Paris of the west.

"Southerners coming to Chicago, summer or winter," said Mr. Darlington, "will find it a carnival city. There is always something going on and the visitor will find himself at no loss for entertainment. Chicago, with its miles of beaches, is a blue coast in itself in summer, and throughout the year no city has more diversified attractions than can be found in our theaters and concert halls."

"As a convention city Chicago is unequalled. The grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel alone can accommodate a gathering of 2,000, while almost any kind of a trade show may be held in the exposition rooms below. Chicago can assimilate crowds that would overrun the average city. Caesar could have marched one of his Roman legions into the Stevens, or Solomon could have registered with his thousand wives without disturbing the routine even of one Chicago hotel."

SYNOPSIS

Father Roger, a young man, having accumulated an invalid from the United States in Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Father treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Father finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius, and Father learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Father is taken on the case as his nurse.

Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

A DISTASTEFUL SITUATION.

Sir Charles' marriage was as much a bombshell to the baron as it was to the neighbors in Cheshire. It was also possibly more than Theresa herself had bargained for. It was, of course, a piece of amazing good fortune, but it entailed obligations and restrictions which soon became tedious. Country life in the north midlands! It proved a crushing bore. Her friends refused to mix with those of her husband with the result that her house parties were dismal beyond description. Tennis she cared little for after she had finished dressing for the part, and hunting she gave up after her third experience when a fall strained a ligament in her back and laid her up for six weeks. Altogether she loathed England and the English more and more every day. London she could have borne. Actually Englishmen of a mundane type she found supremely attractive, but this dash life of the rural provinces simply spelled extinction, beginning with the climate and ending with entertaining the vicar at tea. After a few months she could not even be amused by the sensation she was causing. She grew irritably restless, and casting about for something to mitigate her boredom, hit upon Roger as a possible distraction.

Roger for his part had seen trouble in the offing, though he was quite unprepared for it to take this form. He did not dislike the young woman, half French, half Belgian, with the qualities of both races; indeed at first he was inclined to admire her, though secretly he had always thought his father a great fool to have offered her marriage when something less permanent would have served the purpose. Roger was perhaps more worldly and more discerning than his father, but for all his private convictions on the subject he behaved to his stepmother with perfect courtesy, determined, to make the best of the situation.

While Theresa was recovering from her hunting accident, Roger sat with her nearly every morning, talking or reading aloud, at her request. His father, an early riser, went off to bed at 10 o'clock, while Theresa, used to staying up all night, found herself with several hours on her hands. It was during this period that Roger became aware with a shock that his stepmother was using every means at her disposal to make him fall in love with her. He tried at first to ignore the fact, but when this became difficult, he sought excuses to take himself away in the evenings. This led to questions and reproaches which made him still more uncomfortable. Beyond a certain point one cannot pretend to be in the wrong, and he was in an agony of shame and dread lest her father should see what Theresa was up to. Some time before she had begun the practice of kissing him good night, at first half in jest, but now more and more warmly until he felt that the pretended natural embrace until he had liked himself trying to avoid it, even though avoidance helped to define the odious position. He was no prig, and Theresa was attractive, yet the distaste he felt for the situation neutralized her power to lure him. Moreover, she showed him a side she had kept concealed from his father, and the unconscious revelation convinced him of what he had always suspected—simply that Theresa had all the instincts of a coquette. Whether she actually was one or not was a matter of chance and opportunity.

The climax came one night during a short absence of his father in London. Theresa deliberately came into his room when she knew he was in bed. It was the most painful thing that he could recall in his whole life, and even after six years it embarrassed him to think of it. It was the bad taste that revolted him, the calm assumption that he was least to enter lightly heartily into a liaison with his father's wife! He was filled with disgust and anger. She had placed him in a position where whatever he did would put him in the wrong, so realizing this he let his temper get the better of him, and taking her almost rudely by the shoulders he put her out of the room.

and locked the door. Naturally enough she never forgot him. Since that night he had seen extraordinarily little of her. He had taken the opportunity of moving into Manchester, on the excuse of being nearer the Friars. He had been very guarded in his behavior toward Theresa, and he believed that his father had never suspected anything wrong, although he knew it was fairly evident that he and his step-mother were no longer great friends. Fortunately, not long after this Theresa decided that the English climate gave her neuritis, she took to spending more and more time abroad, until three years ago, when after an obstinate struggle his father was persuaded to give up work and try the south of France for his failing health. This step made it easy to see even less of Theresa, although it also meant seeing less of his father, too. He did not hate her as he felt sure she hated him, he was only heartily sorry she had come into the family. Whatever amorous diversions she might indulge in he considered were no affairs of his, he merely hoped she kept them well hidden from his father. He believed her to be fairly discreet. It was always something of an ordeal to meet her, he rather dreaded it. Still he had always carried it off decently, and it got easier as time went on.

"I'm afraid I shall have to turn you out now. We have to be a little strict."

He glanced up quickly, then jumped to his feet. The screen which guarded the door to exclude draughts had kept him ignorant of the nurse's quiet entrance until she was almost beside him.

"Have I stayed too long?"

"No, no, and I'm glad to see he's resting quietly. You can come in again for a little while this afternoon, if he's going on well."

Roger took leave of the invalid, who opened his sunken eyes for a moment, then closed them again.

"Come outside a moment," he whispered to the nurse when he reached the door.

She followed him into the hall, looking up inquiringly.

"Do you consider he's very ill?" asked Roger.

"Why, no, Mr. Clifford, since you ask me, I can honestly say that it seems to both the night nurse and me an unusually light case of typhoid—about the lightest I've ever nursed, yet he has never run as high a temperature as one would expect."

"Considering his age, that's lucky, isn't it?"

"Yes, of course—O, yes!"

He thought she seemed a little puzzled.

"Has the doctor's treatment of the case anything to do with it, do you think?"

"She sniled and shook her head."

"No, there isn't very much one can do in typhoid, it's mainly a question of what not to do. I only hesitated because we—the other nurse and I—both think it a little odd that Sir Charles, who's an old man and not strong either, should have such a mild case, when the type that's going around is rather severe."

"O, I see. Well, I suppose there's no accounting for these things, is there?"

"No. And in any case we can't complain, can we?"

He liked her laugh and the frank way she looked at him. Her eyes were as clear as a sunny pool that mirrored brown leaves. He liked, too, the freshness of her skin, and her rather square, white teeth, with a tiny space separating the middle two. They made her look so honest. It was a friendly, frank face, yet there was sensitiveness about it, evident from the way the color mounted into the cheeks at the unintentional closeness of his scrutiny.

"Where do you come from?" he asked suddenly.

"Manitoba," was the prompt reply. The western part.

"O, the plains."

"Yes, but I'm astonished at your knowing."

"Do I look so ignorant?"

"Every one over here is ignorant about American geography. I never expect them to know anything. When I mentioned Manitoba to one man, he said at once: 'O, yes, Central America!'"

Manchester England, February 8.—Trade in many of the cotton goods continues to be adversely affected by the easier prices in the raw material. The downward movement in New York for Liverpool has in the last few weeks been unexpected, but is largely due to unfavorable trade ad-

It must be said that at the moment nothing is happening to stimulate purchases of manufactured goods and the attitude of most buyers is to limit their commitments as much as possible. On the other hand, inquiry in home trade fabrics shows signs of broadening. Many houses have adopted

The Day in Finance

BY
R. L. BARNUM

New York, February 16.—Trading in stocks continues light with the price movement irregular. Public utility shares were leaders in today's upward price movement on the action of the senate in turning the proposed investigation of public utility companies over to the federal trade commission instead of the senate. While the investigation of the public utility companies by the federal trade commission may be thorough, Wall Street realizes that there will be less publicity of the sort that might keep the market for public utility securities upset. Wall Street also recalled today that in its investigation of General Electric's public utility interests the federal trade commission has the company a clean bill of health.

Copper Improves.
Oil shares were soft on the passing of the quarterly dividend of 25 cents by Continental Oil Co., the president of that company stating that earnings last year were materially affected by demoralized oil prices despite the larger volume of business handled in all departments. He added in view of the uncertain outlook for the industry in 1928 and continued necessity for storing a considerable part of the company's crude production the directors are of the opinion that the best interests of the stockholders will be served by deferring dividends until conditions in the industry improve. Recent improvement in the copper industry is reflected in the fourth quarter of 1927 earnings of Utah which showed $2.70 a share, against stock at $2.34 for the previous three months. For 1927 the company reports $9.68 a share for the stock against $8.45 for the year of 1926.

Freeport Texas reports net earnings of $3.25,000 for 1927 against $1,800,000 for 1926. The stock advanced more than a point on the statement, but afterwards declined before noon to a new low for the year of 70 1/2 against the year's high of 109 1/4. Last year the price advanced from 34 1/4 to 106 1/2 with a strong pull operating in the stock. Up to the present time the company has been getting half of the profits in operating sulphur lands belonging to the Texas company. This year with plans and development work completed the company will begin to get only 30 per cent of profits with 70 per cent going to the Texas company.

Two Banks Keep 3 1/2.
One of the striking features of the stock market of the past couple of weeks has been the extent of the decline in scores of stocks. In the first half of the year of the high for 1927, there are good reasons for believing that the banks have been marking down the prices at which they will accept advances in the redemptive rate for loans. This marking down has been applied mostly to stocks in which pools have been active.

The advance in the redemptive rate from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent by the Philadelphia bank leaves only two of the 12 federal reserve banks with a 3 1/2 per cent redemptive rate for the first time of the year. These two banks are expected to advance their rate in the very near future. There is some talk here of a further advance in the redemptive rate for the first time of the year. Well-informed Wall Street bankers, however, are of the opinion that future advances in the redemptive rate will limit their developments in the stock market.

Walsh's Defeat Strengthens Stock of Power Companies; Passage of Dividend Weakens Oil; Banks Cut Collateral Value of Paper; Ford's Roll Mounts

Walsh's defeat in the election for governor of Ohio has strengthened the stock of power companies. The passage of a dividend of 100 cents by the Ford Motor Co. has weakened the stock of oil companies. The banks have cut the collateral value of paper, and Ford's roll mounts.

Employment at the Ford plant increased to 92,642 this past week against 92,517 a week ago. The information from Detroit states that Ford will increase daily production by the end of March to 2,000 cars against the present schedule of 1,000. Ford is quoted as saying that he expects daily production to increase rapidly after March. He admits that it has been a task to make a new car and remake it.

More Mergers Coming.
Cuts of from 13 to 30 cents a barrel were announced today on various grades of oil. Negotiations are in progress for the merger of 75 oil companies operating the bituminous fields of West Virginia with the parent company of the Federal Oil Co., which will be the largest of its kind. If pending negotiations are concluded there will be a merger of the Manufacturers Trust Co., the Eastern Oil Co., the Federal Oil Co. and the Eastern Industrial Securities Corporation into a $1,000,000,000 corporation.

Coal Needs Adjustment.
There was much plain talk at the meeting of the woolen and worsted manufacturers. It was declared that "the industry has probably reached bottom long enough" that "the upward curve is long overdue." That "there are many reasons why the woolen industry has been in this position, the lack of cooperation among manufacturers." President Whiteside of the wool institute explained that the immediate objective of the institute is to include the compilation of a wool-woven manual including a uniform method of figuring costs on standard fabrics. Through statistics, the maintenance of prices throughout a season and the broadening of the market for piece goods.

In the first half of the year of the high for 1927, there are good reasons for believing that the banks have been marking down the prices at which they will accept advances in the redemptive rate for loans.
